C. COPYRIGHT TRANSFER AGREEMENT

1. Copyright

- a. The author assigns to the Society, during the full term of copyright and any extensions or renewals, all copyright in and to the Contribution, including but not limited to the right to publish, republish, transmit, sell, distribute and otherwise use the Contribution in whole or in part, in electronic and print editions of the Journal and in derivative works throughout the world, in all languages and in all media of expression now known or later developed, and to license or permit others to do so.

3. Permitted Uses by Author: The Society grants back to the Author the following:

a. Version as Submitted for Publication by Author:

This version may not be replaced with the published Contribution, and must contain the following legend: This is the pre-peer reviewed version of the following article: FULL CITATION, which has been published in final form at [Link to final article].
- ☐ The right to transmit, print and share copies with colleagues.

b. Accepted (but not final) Version: Wiley-Blackwell has agreements with certain funding agencies governing re-use of this version, detailed at the end of this document and at www.wiley.com/go/funderstatement. NIH and HHMI grantees need to check the appropriate box at the end of this document.

c. Final Published Version:

- ☐ Copies for colleagues. The Author may send or transmit individual copies of the final published version in any format to colleagues upon their specific request provided no fee is charged, and that there is no systematic distribution of the Contribution, e.g. posting on a listserve, website or automated delivery.
- ☐ Re-use in other publications. The right to re-use the final Contribution or parts thereof for any publication authored or edited by the Author (excluding journal articles) where such re-used material constitutes less than half of the total material in such publication. In such case, any modifications should be accurately noted.
- ☐ Teaching duties. The right to include the Contribution in teaching or training duties at the Author's institution/place of employment including in course packs, e-reserves, presentation at professional conferences, in-house training, or distance learning. In such case, the company/employer hereby assigns to the Society, during the full term of copyright, all copyright in and to the Contribution for the full term of copyright throughout the world as specified in Para. - b. In addition to the rights specified as retained in Para. B above and the rights granted back to the Author pursuant to Para. C above, the Society hereby grants back, without charge, to such company/employer, its subsidiaries and divisions, the right to make copies of and distribute the published Contribution internally in print format or electronically on the Company's internal network. Although copies so made shall not be available for individual re-sale, they may be included by the employer as part of an information package included with software or other products offered for sale or license or included in patent applications. Posting of the published Contribution by the institution on a public access website may only be done with the publisher's written permission, and payment of any applicable fee(s). Upon payment of Wiley-Blackwell's reprint fee, the institution may distribute (but not resell) print copies of the published Contribution externally.

5. Government Contracts: In the case of a Contribution prepared under U.S. Government contract or grant, the U.S. Government may reproduce, without charge, all or portions of the Contribution and may authorize others to do so, for official U.S. Government purposes only, if the U.S. Government contract or grant so requires.
